

Student comments- PHIL 155: Introduction to Mathematical Logic

The comments provided below are complete and unedited (except when needed to protect anonymity).

-While I am not sure whether I took a lot away from this course, I do feel that the instructor really cared about the performance of each of the students and held frequent meetings outside of class to help in preparing for exams. Due to the sometimes overwhelming cumulative nature of the course material, I sometimes found it difficult personally to keep up with each new chapter, especially considering the inherent difficulty of the concepts taught. However, the instructor was capable of answering any number of questions I had regarding these concepts.

[Low response rate this term]